

STRAW-SOME

SUPPLIES of berries this summer will be the best for years because of recent weather patterns, growers forecast yesterday.

The mix of very warm days and cool nights has produced a bumper yield of strawberries and other crops, said industry body British Summer Fruits.

Today marks the official start of the British strawberry season, with all supplies sold in supermarkets expected to be UK-grown by the end of the month.